Effective Date: 11/17/2025 11:21 Type: Behaviour - Responsive Behaviour

Type of Behaviour : Physical expressions towards staff, such as: swatting, hitting/kicking, yelling/swearing

Antecedent/Triggers : Personal care (shower room); loss of independence and anger with acceptance of support with ADLS. The resident was also reported to have sleep poorly last night following an outing with his wife yesterday.

Describe the behaviour : Staff reported, that the resident did not accept personal care last evening (refused multiple times with different approaches to care). The PSW offered a PRN shower which the resident was initially accepting of. During the shower, the resident escalated quite quickly, trying to stand up from the commode/shower chair, yelling and swearing, trying to hit and kick the staff.

Disruptiveness (Data)/Consequences to the behaviour : The resident did receive personal care with assistance from staff once settled; however, with the expressions displayed and if consistent refusals continue, there is risk to impaired personal hygiene, risk for UTI/infections, etc.

Interventions (review/update care plan) (Action) : The Writer and co-Behaviour Support Lead (C.C) reviewed and updated the resident's care plan to reflect triggers and interventions; see other progress notes.

Change in medication : Change in medication last week; see Change of Medication/Treatment note from November 12th.

What are the risks and causes : With the resident attempting to self-transfer in the wet shower room; risk of falling and potential injury.

Outcome(s)(Result) : The Unit Supervisor did call a code white for The resident; the Writer and co-Behaviour Support Lead did attend; code white cleared within 5 minutes. The male resource nurse did provide support, spoke calmly with the resident, engaged in conversation and validated his feelings in the moment. The resident was given his PRN Quetiapine from the Unit Supervisor. Care was rendered. The resident was brought to his room for quiet time to settle and reboot as this is known to be helpful.

Substitute Decision Maker notified (if not, explain) : POA was notified by the Unit Supervisor.

Note Text : The Writer went back to check on the resident and review situation from earlier. The resident was in his room, continuing to get up, walk around the room. The staff (3) did attempt to have the resident sit back onto his bed upon arrival; however, the Writer directed the staff to step back and allow him space. The resident was in his brief (no other clothing), socks and shoes on, seated on his bed. The Writer and staff debriefed quietly outside his room, where the Writer instructed them to let him be for awhile. 5-10 minutes later, the Writer approached the resident; he was still seated on his bed; allowed Writer to come in and speak with him. The Writer spent some time talking with him, however difficult to understand his words at times; allowed the Writer to apply a shirt and pants; agreed to go off the unit for a walk. The resident suddenly took left arm and attempted to strike out at Writer. The resident then stood up, and did lost balance onto side of his

LATE ENTRY

Type of Behaviour : Physical Aggressive Behaviour

Antecedent/Triggers : Staff attended to provide care; resident appeared agitated.

Describe the behaviour : Approximately 2200h, Two PSWs attended to provide personal care for the resident. While the writer and other staff were in the nursing station, yelling and screaming were heard coming from the direction of the resident's area. The emergency bell was activated. Staff, including the writer, responded immediately and found the resident in co-residents O.W. and A.S.'s washroom.

The resident was observed shouting, ?Don't enter! Don't enter! and appeared highly agitated. Upon exiting the washroom, the resident began running toward staff. PSWs reported that the resident subsequently entered co-resident S.C.'s room.

The resident was then seen in the hallway wearing only a t-shirt and a brief, making a punching fist motion while approaching staff. The resident continued to display physically responsive behaviors, including throwing items, banging objects against the nursing station windows and doors, kicking items, and pacing around the area.

These behaviors persisted for approximately 1 hour and 30 minutes despite staff redirection and de-escalation efforts.

Disruptiveness (Data)/Consequences to the behaviour : The resident's behaviour caused noise and disrupted sleep for other residents, leading to distress and raising safety concerns for staff. Due to the resident's aggression and refusal, staff were unable to provide the required care.

Interventions (review/update care plan) (Action) : Staff re-approached after a brief interval. A Code White was announced to assist with de-escalation, the on-call MD was notified, and 911 was contacted.

Change in medication :

What are the risks and causes : The resident's behaviour posed a risk of harm to themselves and other residents, increased the risk of staff injury, and disrupted the well-being of co-residents.

Outcome(s)(Result) : Resident was sent to the Hospital

LATE ENTRY

Type of Behaviour : Physical / Verbal Aggression

Antecedent/Triggers : Resident's mood and behaviour noted to change following spouse's departure after visitation. Possible contributing factor: discomfort from cold, soiled clothing and incontinence products.

Describe the behaviour : While the writer was on a short break, the PSW reported that the resident had feces on his pants and incontinence product but refused assistance with personal care. The writer advised the PSW to allow the resident some time and re-approach later. Upon re-approach, the resident became physically and verbally aggressive, chasing staff out of his room and making a fist towards them.

The PSW also observed the resident slamming co-resident S.A.'s door. The resident was noted to be angry, agitated, and later found sitting on the floor yelling and screaming at staff. It was observed that the resident's mood and behaviour changed following the departure of his wife, who had visited earlier in the evening.

Disruptiveness (Data)/Consequences to the behaviour : Behaviour caused disruption to the home environment, distress among co-residents, and safety concerns for staff. Staff were unable to provide care due to resident aggression and refusal.

Interventions (review/update care plan) (Action) : Staff re-approached after a short interval; Code White was announced to assist with de-escalation.

Change in medication : Yes

What are the risks and causes : Risk of harm to self and others due to physical and verbal aggression.

Risk of staff injury and disruption to co-residents.

Possible causes: emotional distress after spouse's departure, discomfort from cold/wet clothing and soiled incontinence

Outcome(s)(Result) : Resident remained agitated for approximately two hours.

Eventually settled and found asleep in bed.

No injury to resident or staff reported.

Care deferred until resident was calm and receptive.product, refusal of care.

Type of Behaviour : physical aggression directed towards staff.

Antecedent/Triggers : Staff was sitting in the nursing station, resident came inside and started throwing punches.

Describe the behaviour : Around 2105, resident was ambulating without assistance and walked in the nursing station. As soon as he saw multiple staff members in the nursing station, he became physically aggressive towards and lunged towards multiple staff members. Staff tried to offer resident a chair to sit, as he gets dizzy often but resident refused and started throwing punches in the air. Resident lost his balance, fell multiple times inside the nursing station hitting his head on the floor and on the table too. Then resident started chasing in the staff outside the nursing station too. Resident was being observed from a distance as per his care plan but resident still was very agitated and was constantly trying to hit people. Co- residents were moved away from the scene to avoid further escalation. Staff closed the fire doors for safety reasons, resident didn't like this too, he kicked the fire doors multiple times and tried to smack his head on the door as well. Resident again fell multiple times, landing on his knees , hitting his head. Resident started crying and became very anxious. Writer tried to talk with the resident when he was on the floor, and gave him a pillow to rest his head. Resident listened for a while and agreed to let the staff help him. Resident denied pain at this point but has a laceration on his left eyebrow as result of hitting his head multiple times. Resident allowed writer to check vitals and do a quick head to toe assessment. Resident was then assisted into his wheelchair with help of x 2 staff members. Resident remained calmed until he went into his room. While being toileted resident became physically aggressive again and threw multiple objects at staff members that were within his reach. Resident fell again in his room, refusing to let anyone assist him. Resident threw shoes, side table among other stuff at staff members that were trying to monitor him from outside his room. Resident ripped out a piece of metal from his bed frame and threw that at staff too, fell again and slept on the floor for a few minutes. Resident eventually got up on his own and settled in his bed, refusing further assessment and his prn medications.
